

Stephen,

As we promised here is a testimonial for your website. When we were looking for a sub woofer amplifier we looked at the old school Orion, Hifonics and PPI then through some luck in research we came across a website about Zed Audios Steve Mantz. I read the biography and was impressed with Mr. Mantz and his accomplishments then I realized I have own numerous creations of his. I started looking around the Internet and came across many message boards with responses to and from Steve so I spent a few weeks reading everything I could find about Zed and Mr. Mantz. I have owned Hifonics series VII and Orion's THE BEAST and numerous lesser brands. I used to compete with the Hfonics and Orion systems and always did very well. When we were thinking of installing a new system in my wife's Honda Civic we decided on going with old components we had laying around but we would have to purchase a new Sub amp. I initially wanted to buy a Orion hcca 275 or even a Hifonics Zeus or even another Beast. Well we decided to check into The Deuce produced by Zed so I called and talked to Mr. Mantz himself and even had several emails return by him to help me decide this was the one we wanted. Well I ordered it and we just got it installed the Amp is huge it was much larger than I thought it would be. I had read a few people hated the looks of it and some said it was too big. I myself think it looks very classy and unique we even love the baby blue lettering. Compared to the other amps I have heard in my 16 years of car audio enjoyment I have to say this has very controlled sound and the performance per dollar is incomparable. The price we paid was far lower than it is worth. I paid 1000 dollars for the beast when I got it 9 years ago and this amp stomps it in sound for less than half of the price. I am not saying this out powered it but the sound is just amazing. I now want to purchase a Draconia to run the higher range components to enjoy the refined sound through all of our speakers. I can not shut up about how fantastic this product is or even about the experience of the Zed audio corporation. I am definitely a proud and Happy owner of a Real Zed audio Amp. I have been and will continue to promote Zed and Mr Mantz as long as They are around. As far as I am concerned you will never go wrong with a purchase from Zed audio. Thank you again Mr. Mantz hopefully we will be calling you again soon to add to our system Keep up the awesome work it is appreciated. Dane and Jae Job
