

hey mr. mantz,

i noticed back in may you had a planet audio p1002 that you were giving away with an amp purchase. do you still have this amp b/c i would like to buy it outright if you do? i have this habit of buying old zed amps lately and just got in a planet audio tube amp today.

i also wanted to say that im really impressed with my two gladius amps. they are some the best built amps ive ever had. ive been trying to spread the word about zed on the sounddomain forum. unfortunately too many people seem interested in whats the cheapest and will get them by for a while instead of purchasing an amp that will last 10 years.

thanks,
Brian
